OXFORD HISTORY
When a Professor fell dead outside William College of a friend said "Why not... but why choose to die outside William?"
The absent-minded Dr Spomer, when going by train, is repaid to have kissed the pretter and "kissed a lady before".
"Please, Sir, may I have leave to go to my work's tomorrow?"
"You may go, but I wish it had been a nearer relation!"
"My lady, I wish it had been a nearer relation!"

Tall Tales & Odd Dons
"Alas, there are no economic left-overs!"
"I don't want that a colleague had covered me, would they?"
"Oh, I'd know I'd have told the answer!"
"I don't appear to be having conversation with you!"
"Yes, indeed, do sit on my left side!"
"Really, I was up, how were my feelings today?"
"Really, did you know you were of them?"

Tall Tales and Odd Dons
We take no responsibility for the truth or otherwise of these tales!
The answer to what to do with one's cherry stones at All Souls' has never been divulged. To gain entry as a Fellow is considered the height of academic achievement, and before one reaches the alleged cherry-stone stage, a terrifying academic ordeal has to be negotiated. The final paper is perhaps the most demanding: a single essay, to be written in three hours, with a one-word title. In 1985 the word was "Discretion". A few years before that it was "Grossnet". Freshlings last for seven years during which time the fellows are provided with free rooms and dinners, and the freedom to conduct their research. There is also a small stipend (£4,655 in 1986). The formal requirement is to permacrete (spend the night in Oxford) for 84 days in the first year.
The sundial at Corpus seems to be particularly unfortunate when it comes to dots letting off steam. Even the mild-mannered Keeble is said to have hurled a bottle at it in rage!
