Activate Learning is a pioneering education group which combines secondary, further and higher education, with apprenticeship and workforce training, consultancy, commercial business and social enterprise. These organisations are united by a common purpose - to transform lives through learning.

Activate Learning launched in November 2013 as the new name for Oxford & Cherwell Valley College Group. Our unique learning philosophy understands how people learn best and creates an environment where they can succeed. We ensure the future employability of our learners throughout their lives. We achieve this by developing the technical and softer skills required for success.

Our learners develop confidence, self-awareness, determination and creativity - attributes needed to thrive in a competitive global market. We want to go further than education' by igniting confidence and expanding opportunities in our people; in ways that energise communities, build businesses and grow the economy

We are recruiting for an inspiring and creative Teacher - Events & Tourism at City of Oxford College. We are an area that aspires to excellence and promotes high professional expectation in our students. We are currently seeking a like-minded individual who possesses the desire to teach and train to a high professional standard. Strong team values, a desire to innovate within the vocational learning experience and the ability to adapt flexibly to the changing needs of the sector are essential.
